

About Us

The Story Behind Flat4Pet

Flat4Pet started with us — Varvara and Roman — two travelers who loved exploring new places but always worried about leaving our pets behind. Every trip came with the same question: who would care for them the way we do?

We realized we weren't alone. Pet owners everywhere faced the same challenge, while travelers like us longed for a place that felt like home instead of just another rental. So we started thinking — what if there was a way to help each other? A space where pet owners and travelers could connect, not through money, but through trust and shared values.

- That's how Flat4Pet was born — not as a business, but as a way to make travel feel more like home, for both people and pets.

Not Just a Platform, But a Community

We knew from the start that we didn't want Flat4Pet to be just another service. We didn't want it to be about money changing hands, about landlords and tenants. We wanted it to be about people. Real connections. Homeowners finding sitters who genuinely love animals, travelers discovering homes that feel like they belong to them — even if just for a little while. This is why there's no commerce between users. No hidden fees. No transactions. Just trust for trust, care for care. A simple idea, but one we truly believe in.

And there's something magical about knowing that while you're exploring the world, someone is taking care of your home and pets as if they were their own.

Why We Believe in This

We built Flat4Pet because we wanted a different way to travel. One where homeowners don't have to choose between their love for adventure and their love for their pets. Where a cat in Amsterdam is cared for by a traveler from Tokyo, and a dog in Sydney gets belly rubs from a new friend from Paris.

And the best part? It's already happening. Thousands of people are opening their homes, sharing their lives, and proving that trust and generosity still have a place in this world.

Main heading text (adjust the font size as needed)

Thinking About Your Next Adventure?

Sub-heading or descriptive text (again, adjust font size if needed)

Join Flat4Pet today and see where it takes you!

Button linking to your desired page

Join Now